

"Lazereyes" - The Best Teaching Aid I've Seen!

by Bob Menzies, PGA Professional

As an instructor, I am constantly seeking the best teaching aids that will be most beneficial to my students. Recently, I was shown a "laser" club, which will work on many areas of a golf swing. I'm referring to Lazereyes - a DUAL laser swing analyzer. Visually, you will instantly be able to notice any of your swing imperfections. Whether it's your wrists that are not cocking correctly, a swing that is off-plane, or a lack of proper release (the rotation of the hands and forearms turning over one another) through impact and post impact, Lazereyes will give you all that feedback, and more! This club will give you the quickest, clearest and most concise feedback about your swing! The dual laser system provides the most productive and beneficial form of learning a proper swing plane/path that I have ever seen!

Lazereyes has a solid metal head for weighting (just like golf clubs), a brand name steel shaft and a typical rubber grip. Two 'AA' batteries power the dual lasers. The lasers and the batteries are all fitted within the shaft. The lasers point in opposite directions -- one from the solid metal head "down" towards the ground/ball and the other one "up" from the butt-end of the grip itself -- giving you a continuous visual view of your swing. There's an on/off pressure-sensitive switch on the grip that activates the lasers. Your hand that is at the top/butt-end of the grip can control the on/off switch, with ease. The lasers will allow you to see the path and angles of your swing at address, takeaway, top of swing, downswing, impact and follow through. This club can also be used to help with your putting!

To correctly begin using the Lazereyes, you would assume your normal address position -- with the head/bottom laser pointing at your golf ball. The golf ball is consequently positioned on your target line. The head/bottom laser would then be traced along your target line during your take-away. As the head/bottom laser continues to work back during your backswing, at about the hip-high position (where the "Lazereyes" club is parallel to your target line) your wrists should now start to cock/hinge. With correct cocking/hinging of your wrists, the grip/butt-end laser would now be pointing at your target line. Consequently, if both lasers have traced back along your target line to this hip-high position in your swing, then you have accomplished a correct backswing.

Next, during your downswing, the grip/butt-end laser should again be pointing at your target line. As you continue to swing down and into impact, the head/bottom laser should now again be pointing at your target line. Then, with correct release, in the post-impact position, the grip/butt-end laser would then be pointing at your target line. once again. From there, your momentum carries you into a full and complete finish position.

Lazereyes will DEFINITELY help you detect "right from wrong" while making your golf swing. With the use of this club, you will achieve better golf swings, since you will be making CORRECT repetitive motions. "Lazereyes" will help you obtain positive muscle memory. Additionally, this club can be used ANYWHERE -- at home, your office, or even before you go out to play - as it can be quickly stored inside your golf bag! Lazereyes is especially useful for those of you living in northern states - where practicing can become very limited during the winter months. I am totally confident that by using the Lazereyes throughout the winter months, that your golf swing will dramatically improve by the time spring rolls around!

* I do not endorse the Lazereyes club. However, I feel so strongly about this club/teaching aid, that I wanted to inform golfers everywhere about this amazing product! Search for them on the Internet today!
